'Dear Abby' Returns After Syndicate Fight

As you will note in a company advertisement today the "Dear Abby" column is returning to The Star Jan. 1 after an absence of eight years. We introduced her in Arkansas in 1964 and were compelled to cancel her in 1965 because the syndicate then handling the column used it as a pry-pole to make us over-buy additional features.

The whole story is told in the advertisement, including a personal letter from Abby in Los Angeles welcoming us back, and a reprint of our Daily Bread column of 1965 describing the battle with the New York syndicate which led to the cancellation.

Some people think that because most American cities have but one newspaper the newspaper business therefore is a "grave train"; but the battle over the "Dear Abby" column points to a special newspaper problem.

You spend money and years building up the paid circulation which attracts advertising—covering 75 per cent of a newspaper's operating expense—then add a new editorial feature, and in about a year the syndicate handling that feature raises the ante or demands you buy additional material, figuring your circulation has made their material so popular you won't risk canceling it.

Well, The Star puts first things first. And a newspaper's circulation outranks any feature or group of features no matter how much "hard sell" the syndicates throw at you.

Telephoning me from Los Angeles in 1965 Abby herself congratulated me on having the guts to cancel her column—the correspondence with the offending syndicate which I turned over to her led to her breaking her contract and switching to the Chicago Tribune New York News Syndicate, her present agent, with whom we have signed effective Jan. 1.

Most syndicates, of course, are O.K. I have been dealing with our basic syndicate, Newspaper Enterprise Association, Cleveland, since 1923 at El Dorado and since 1929 in Hope—a span of 50 years. The rates have gone up during inflation, of course, but there never has been any pressure or double-dealing.

Nevertheless a newspaper operates in a restricted market when buying features, and our 1965 experience with the "Dear Abby" column has been duplicated many times over the nation.

In her welcoming letter in today's advertisement Abby asks plaintively why I waited eight years to resume her column. My answer: The years go by without notice. I always intended to make a new contract for her, but wanted to wait until the smoke had lifted from the syndicate battle. The other day while reviewing our files I came across the big one of 1965, realized it was nearly eight years old—so I got off a commitment to Abby that night.

You'll meet her again next Monday.

Two B52s, helicopters lost in VN

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. bombers kept up saturation air attacks against the Hanoi and Haiphong areas today, and the U.S. Command announced the loss of two more B52 bombers and a big rescue helicopter.

Six men were reported missing in one of the B52s, raising to at least $1 the total number of Americans missing, killed or captured in the air attack on the North Vietnamese heartland that began Dec. 18. Two other Americans were killed aboard a Navy destroyer hit by shore fire.

The attack on the heavily defended Hanoi and Haiphong areas resulted in the heaviest weekly American casualties in nearly two years. The U.S. Command's weekly casualty summary today said seven Americans were killed in action last week, 73 were missing and 29 were wounded. Four of the dead were killed in air operations in Laos, the Command said.

North Vietnam said again that it would not yield to the heaviest air assaults of the war, which have left much of greater Hanoi and Haiphong in flames and rubble, according to a bomb-damage report by the U.S. Command.

The North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry said waves of B52

bombers and fighter-bombers carried out more "extermination" raids Wednesday night against many densely populated areas, including Hanoi and Haiphong and their suburbs.

Novosti, a Soviet press agency, said in Moscow that its office in Hanoi was destroyed during a raid Wednesday.

Administration shuts off emergency disaster loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has shut off emergency disaster loans to farmers in another move to hold federal spending to the $250-billion ceiling the President has imposed.

The Farmers Home Administration was ordered Wednesday to halt the flow of loans to farmers in counties designated disaster areas as a result of severe weather damage to crops, livestock and other property.

The Agriculture Department said FHA field offices were instructed to stop accepting applications for aid in counties where the loans had been available for 60 days or more, and in other counties, when the two-month deadline expires.

George C. Knappl, an FHA assistant administrator, said he had no idea how much money the government might save by the order.

Emergency FHA loans since July 1 totaled $79 million to 15,855 borrowers as of Nov. 30. A total of $140 million in emergency assistance had been projected for the fiscal year ending June 30.

But other USDA sources put the figure much higher, perhaps near $600 million by next summer.

Farmers throughout much of the nation, including the Corn Belt, have suffered extensive crop losses this fall because of poor harvest weather.

FHA officials said agency field officers in the stricken harvest areas were told weeks ago to stall making formal aid requests until officials were certain of the size of losses.

The order Wednesday, however, virtually eliminated chances for new relief actions for counties not on the government's disaster list.

Counties can get disaster status either from President Nixon or Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz. But the order said "no other secretarial designations are expected for the balance of 1973" and that all disaster designations by Nixon will expire automatically June 30.

Construction review: 1972 was a bumper year for Hope

By LEONARD ELLIS

Residential and commercial construction reached an all-time high in Hope and Hempstead County during 1972, and the projection for 1973 is continuation at a high level. Ninety-four permits were issued by City Hall for construction of new homes, costing a total of $1,759,700. That's an average of $18,700 per home located inside the city limits.

Additional new homes have been completed in outlying communities and rural areas but no estimate was obtained on cost figures.

Industrial and commercial construction inside the city and outlying sections zoomed into the millions of dollars, a banner year for construction and expansion of present facilities for some 20 establishments.

The outlook for the new year is bright. George Peck, former Hope man and president of Commercial National Bank of Texarkana, said today that as soon as the weather cleared construction would begin on the new $1,200,000 Holiday Inn near I-30 and State Highway 4.

The structure will be two stories containing 104 units plus restaurant and facilities for group meetings. It will be of brick and will require about six months to construct.

Union Oil Company will construct a $1,250,000 truck stop and motel complex also at I-30 and Highway 4 during next year.

Gulf Oil Company plans a new gasoline service station in that area, but no date for construction has been announced.

Early construction is planned for a new nursing home on South Main Street in Hope near Memorial Hospital. The structure will cost approximately $360,000. John M. DeLoach Construction Company has the contract. Hempstead Homes, Inc., will own and operate the facility.

Other projects planned for the new year include conversion of the Hope Food Corporation industry to a troler processing plant. The firm is located in the Proving Ground area.

Completion is planned for January with employment of 110 persons. The plant is geared for a capacity of 75,000 chickens per day, and after six months of operation a second shift is expected to be hired, according to Tom Duncan, president of the firm.

Construction work on the new 96-unit Sheraton Motor Lodge, two stories and of brick construction, will begin in the near future. Bobby Carroll of Murfreesboro has the contract. Cost estimate will exceed $1 million, and the owners are Jimmy East of Little Rock, Vincent Foster, Robert Tye, and Arthur Dillard of Hope.

The facilities will include a restaurant, swimming pool, facilities for group meetings. The motor lodge is located near I-30 and Highway 4.

Commercial construction and expansion during 1972 included: —Spears Carpet Mills, Inc., located in the North Industrial Park just beyond Interstate 30 on High-

Embassy is captured by terrorists

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Five Arab terrorists took over the Israeli embassy today, seizing six hostages, but government sources said the invaders agreed nine hours later to release the hostages in return for a safe conduct out of Thailand.

The hostages included Shimon Avimor, Israeli ambassador to Cambodia.

Thai police entered the embassy tonight.

The government negotiated with Pan American World Airways to take the Arabs to their unknown destination.

In the first of today's events, the Arabs gained access to the compound. Two wore formal white tie and tails, as if they were going to attend today's investiture of Prince Vajiralongkorn as heir to the throne.

They were granted ready access and were joined by three other armed Arabs, who climbed a wall.

The invaders threatened to kill the hostages and blow up the embassy unless 36 Palestinian prisoners were released from Israeli prisons.

About 400 Thai police and army troops with guard dogs surrounded the compound.

The terrorists earlier had vowed to "fight to the end" rather than release the hostages.

The Thai government offered the Arabs safe conduct out of the country if they would release the hostages.

Details of what evolved from this were not immediately clear.

One report was that Thai officials and the Egyptian ambassador reached agreement with the Black September terrorists guaranteeing them safe passage if they released the hostages unharmed. But Pan American had refused to carry the Arabs if they were armed, police said. The Israeli government had said it would not submit to (Continued on page 8.)

Truman buried today

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — After simple funeral services devoid of eulogy, former President Harry S. Truman is to be buried today in the courtyard of the Truman Library.

Only 250 guests were invited, few of them of national renown, in keeping with the unpretentious solemnity that has marked the days since his death Tuesday.

Truman's widow, Bess, who had been secluded in her grief in the house they shared for 53 years, was to be at the final rite for the nation's 33rd president and to receive the flag that draped the coffin.

As the nation began a day of mourning proclaimed by President Nixon, thousands still were paying their respects to (Continued on next page.)

way 29 representing an investment of more than $1.5 million.

The mill got in operation in early summer and was dedicated by Gov. Dale Bumpers Oct. 9 with "open house" to the public. The mill is located on 21 acres, and has a fire-proof building containing 74,000 square feet of heated area. At present the mill is employing 90 persons. The operation starts with the yarn and finishes with the completed carpet.

Further north in the Proving Ground area, Tex-Ark Joist Company completed its steel fabricating plant in July and at the present time employs 185 persons. The firm is a subsidiary of Tennessee Forging Steel Corporation. The plant represents an investment of approximately $1,225,000.

Also in the Oakhaven area, Wynnewood Products Company, subsidiary of Permaneer Corporation, started an expansion project a few weeks ago that will require six months to complete at a cost of $1,200,000 according to Crit Stuart Jr., local manager.

New and modern machinery and equipment is being installed throughout most of the plant and when completed it will be a sophisticated operation with many "push buttons" for the manufacture of wall board and paneling. Despite modernization, some additional employees will be needed.

Zodiac, Inc., is a new industrial plant located on 10 acres near the Hope Municipal Airport, with an option to purchase an additional 10 acres for expansion. The firm is headed by R. D. McDonald of Clarksville, Tex., and J. R. Bennett of Hope. Their new building is nearing completion and operations are expected to begin in early February. The plant represents an investment of about $500,000. The firm will manufacture quality motorized homes and holiday vehicles, and will employ 75 persons. Additional employees will be hired as the firm expands.

Clyde Fouse, manager of Tolber Corporation, has announced a $300,000 expansion of their plant on South Elm St. The new building contains 14,000 square feet of heated area, and Feb. 1 is the target date to begin operations at the new facility. About 30 additional employees will be needed. The firm manufactures plastic articles.

Bruner-Ivory Handle Company, one of Hope's oldest industrial firms, completed a modernization project during the year at a cost of $150,000 for new machinery, according to Guy Bayse, spokesman. A 10 percent hike in new jobs was also announced. The firm manufactures hickory handles and exports the product to many parts of the world.

The year 1972 saw the completion of three new and modern motels near Interstate 30 and Highway 29 North, representing an investment of more than $1 million. They are Town House Motel, The Trade Winds, and North Park Arms. Total capacity is about 150 units.

Three new gasoline service stations also were completed near the new motels. They include Mobile, Texaco, and Exxon, with total investment of more than $100,000.

Unitemp Dry Kilns, Inc., headed by Morris Harwell, completed its new building and installation of new equipment in October of this year at a cost of $80,000. The firm has 7,500 square feet of additional space and manufactures dry kilns. A slight increase in employment was announced.

Among the smaller industrial plants locating in Hope this year were the Tamaros Manufacturing Company, housed in the old Plunkett-Jarrell building; and the Fulton Manufacturing Company located in the Proving Ground area. Each plant manufactures component parts for mobile homes.

Construction of a new $1,200,000 district highway office got underway in early fall and is expected to be completed next summer. The building is located just north of I-30 and Highway 29. The building will be of brick-veneer construction and will house the district highway office, shops, equipment storage, chemical facility and service station.

Charles H. Mitchell, district highway engineer, said the office employs 65 persons.

Meyer's Bakery, located on Highway 67 East, added a new rack washer facility during the year at a cost of $30,000 and plan another one in 1973. The plant has recently been working around the clock and employs 280 persons.

May 1 has been set for the target date for completion of the new $750,000 brick First United Methodist Church building, located on Highway 29 South, according to Mitchell LaGrone.

Seating capacity of the sanctuary will be 500. The building will also house Sunday School classrooms, educational building, fellowship hall and kitchen facilities. The complex is located on 12 acres of land, and will include ample parking facilities.

Southwest Arkansas Equipment Co., Inc., completed its new commercial building in late summer and opened for business September 1. The firm is located on Highway 4 near I-30. Cost estimate was given at $200,000.

The firm is located on 10 acres, and is owned jointly by W. E. Silliman and E. J. Alexander. The firm handles John Deere farm machinery and equipment, and presently is employing 10 persons.

Wienie war may break out

WASHINGTON (AP) — A stubborn wienie war, which even spread in the White House once, could flare up again when hotdog eaters and makers tangle over new labeling requirements.

The Agriculture Department is under pressure to streamline hotdog labels and ban such unappetizing animal byproducts as lips, snouts and spleens.

Consumer pressures, court decisions and the meat industry's slow acceptance of new rules have highlighted hotdog struggles for the past four years.

The latest USDA proposal, which is open for public comment until Feb. 21, bows to recent court rulings that the "all-meat" labels on hotdogs contain up to 15 per cent poultry and non-meat ingredients are misleading.

Byproducts now are not allowed in all-meat hotdogs, but are permitted, along with cereals and dried milk, in plain types.

Under the proposal, the all-meat designation would be dropped in favor of "frankfurter" or "bologna." These could include only muscle tissue or red meat plus up to 15 per cent poultry meat.

Sausages with additives such as dry milk, soy protein and similar ingredients would have to be labeled "frankfurter, non-fat dry milk added."

The latest proposals could result in the most physically fit hotdogs since President Nixon intervened in a 1969 dispute over how much fat should be allowed in them.

Until three years ago, there was no federal lid on fat in hotdogs, and some contained up to 30 per cent fat.

Consumer groups were pushing then to get the government to set a 25 per cent maximum fat limit. The Agriculture Department, under pressure from meat companies, urged a limit of 33 per cent.

But the White House spread the word that Nixon supported a 30 per cent limit, and that percentage was adopted.

New changes are planned in battle of wage-price controls

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is planning changes in its wage-price controls, but it still doesn't know what to do about rising food costs.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said Wednesday that if it weren't for rising food prices, inflation would have subsided enough to justify a wage increase guideline lower than the current 5.5 per cent.

Economics officials said the administration probably will change the profit-margin rule, phase out rent controls and change the coverage of the wage-price control program.

Administration officials are consulting with labor and business leaders in advance of the changes.

But rising food prices apparently have everyone baffled.

"If you had to pick one theme running through the consultations, there were three problems mentioned—food, food and food," said Donald Rumfield, director of the Cost of Living Council.

A high council source said that whatever decisions made on food costs, controls on farm products probably would be avoided.

Shultz said the administration would try to increase food supplies while keeping farm incomes steady.

Among the measures being considered, a source said, are increased acreage allotments, revised farm subsidy policies, and changes in tariffs and import quotas.

Shultz said any single action would not solve the problem.

How the profit-margin rule will be changed was not disclosed, but the council source said the existing rule can't be retained.

It provides that a company cannot exceed its percentage of profit recorded during the best two of the three fiscal years prior to the August 1971 wage-price freeze.

Businessmen have complained that profits were not good in those years, which leaves them in a low profit position now.

While profit margins may become a little more liberal, the administration is reluctant to do anything about controlling interest rates, Shultz told newsmen.

Shultz said the administration is looking into some measures to moderate interest rates should they continue climbing. But he said the best way to control them is through reducing inflation.

Truman, lying in state in the marble lobby of the library.

They had lined up on the drives leading to the hillside building before military pallbearers placed the coffin on a catafalque draped in black silk.

Richard M. Nixon and Lyndon B. Johnson had separate, private moments at the coffin of the man who had preceded them in the nation's highest office.

Once the doors were opened, people of all ages streamed past the coffin in eloquent, silent tribute. They moved through at the rate of nearly 2,000 per hour, and the line still stretched for a quarter mile after midnight.

Margaret Truman Daniel, her husband, Clifton, and their four boys were at the brief ceremonies that preceded the lying-in-state. So were 60 others who had been part of Truman's official life—such as the family maid, a long-time guard and Rose Conway, who for many years was Truman's secretary.

Truman's gravesite is just outside the library office where the former president wrote his three books, prepared the lectures he delivered on college campuses and where he received diplomats and school boys.

Official Washington and the international community will have a memorial service Jan. 5 in the National Cathedral. And there was to be another service in nearby Kansas City today for those who wanted but could not get into the courtyard in Independence.

Hughes may have to appear for U.S. passport

By ED BLANCHE

Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. Embassy said today reclusive billionaire Howard Hughes will have to emerge from the privacy of a tightly guarded London hotel suite if he wants a new passport.

The 67-year-old tycoon doesn't need a passport to stay in Britain, and he doesn't need one to get back into the United States. But an embassy spokesman said Hughes' passport had expired some time ago and Washington officials advised that he had asked for a new one.

"As far as we're concerned," the spokesman said, "he will have to call personally, fill in the usual application form and pay a $12 fee. That's what every American traveling without a passport has to do, and it will be the same for Mr. Hughes."

If the embassy enforces the regulation, it will be the first time in memory that the U.S. government has treated Hughes as an ordinary citizen. He has been living for months in Managua, Nicaragua, apparently without any question being raised about his passport. He flew in and out of the United States after the earthquake last weekend drove him from Managua, and apparently no objection was made to his not having a passport. And the embassy sought to expedite his admission to Britain by telling the Home Office that he was coming without a valid passport.

British immigration rules allow the admission of foreigners without passports so long as they carry documents establishing their identity and nationality. Sources close to Hughes said he planned to stay in Britain for six months, possibly longer. A Home Office spokesman said he could remain "as long as it suits him."

Hughes and his entourage landed at Gatwick Airport south of London shortly after midnight Wednesday. They were held up for at least half an hour while officials checked the mysterious billionaire's identity. After considerable telephoning, he was allowed to enter the country.

Four curtained Rolls Royces brought the party to the nine-story Inn at the Park, overlooking Hyde Park, and Hughes moved into the west wing on the top floor, at $2,500 a day. The wing was sealed off, and an intercom system was installed at the main door. Police with walkie-talkies patrolled the streets below, and guards manned all doors to the wing.

The Gazette said a list of written questions concerning the documents was delivered to Weeks at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday. At 7 p.m., the newspaper said he said that he could not respond to the questions before the Gazette's publication deadline, but that he would respond "at the earliest possible moment."

The Gazette said Wimberly requested a written list of questions and said that he would "attempt to respond in a written form."

Rockets stun Lakers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Houston Rockets had stunned the Los Angeles Lakers by 32 points but winning Coach Tex Winter was worried, thinking it might be a bad omen for the next game.

"This score will be bad for us when Milwaukee reads it," Winter said after his Rockets had demolished the injury-plagued National Basketball Association champions 136-104 Wednesday night. "They'll say, 'Wow, look how much Houston beat L.A.'"

The Rockets, red hot after a slow start, try for their sixth victory in seven games Friday night against the Bucks in Milwaukee.

In the only other NBA game Wednesday night, the Atlanta Hawks edged the Philadelphia 76ers 121-120 on Don May's 10-foot jump shot at the buzzer.

In the American Basketball Association, Carolina downed

Indiana 122-114, Kentucky topped New York 109-101, Denver nipped Virginia 115-113, and San Diego defeated Memphis 106-102.

Mike Newlin led the Rockets with 24 points, while Jack Marin and Jimmy Walker had 23 apiece and Rudy Tomjanovich 21. Gail Goodrich netted 37 points and Jerry West 24 for the Lakers, who played without starting forwards Jim McMillian and Happy Hairston.

May came into the game for Atlanta with 11 seconds remaining and hit his winning basket after grabbing teammate Pete Maravich's rebound in the lane.

Lou Hudson paced Atlanta with 34 points, while Maravich added 25. Leroy Ellis and Fred Carter each scored 25 for the 76ers, who suffered their 10th straight loss and 34th setback in 37 games.

Carolina, leading the ABA East, blew an 18-point third quarter lead, before battling back to beat Indiana as Billy Cunningham and Joe Caldwell led the way with 28 and 27 points, respectively. Mac Calvin, who added 20 points, had 10 points in the fourth quarter, including the Cougars' last six, ensuring the victory.

George McGinnis paced Indiana with 39 points and Mel Daniels had 22. McGinnis said "we made crucial mistakes at crucial times and Carolina made the big baskets at the big moments. That's what beat us." Kentucky's victory was its sixth in a row and 15th in 16 games, while the loss was the Nets fourth straight and ninth in 10 games. Dan Issel paced the Colonels with 34 points.

George Carter was high for New York with 26 points.

Byron Beck's layup with 24 seconds left was decisive in Denver's victory over Virginia. Ralph Simpson topped Denver with 30 points and Dave Robisch contributed 27. Julius Erving, the league's leading scorer, and Roland Taylor had 24 points apiece for the Squires.

Chuck Williams' 26 points and Gene Moore's 21 helped San Diego withstand an 18-point spurge by Memphis' Les Hunter in the final 10 minutes. Hunter finished with 25 points.

Redskins take on Cowboys

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coach George Allen says the crackback block applied on Washington Redskins linebacker Jack Pardee by a Dallas Cowboy player was legal.

"What I said was misinterpreted," said Allen, whose Redskins take on the Cowboys Sunday at RFK Stadium for the National Football Conference championship.

"There's nothing wrong with the block. When you go in motion you must be going either laterally or away from the line of scrimmage."

"The block had nothing to do with it," Allen was talking about the controversial block Dallas wide receiver Lance Alworth threw at Pardee in the first quarter of a game in Dallas three weeks ago. The block helped spring Cowboy running back Calvin Hill around right end for 10 yards and a Dallas touchdown.

After the 34-24 Dallas victory, Allen was quoted as saying the block was a "vicious and illegal play."

Pardee said Alworth "was out to hurt my leg." The veteran linebacker missed the Redskins final regular season contest against the Buffalo Bills with an injury to the knee.

Jones will lead Tigers against Tennessee

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ Associated Press Sports Writer HOUSTON (AP) — Louisiana State Coach Charlie McClendon says Tiger quarterback Bert Jones, a likely first round draft pick, may be an even faster success in the pros than fellow Louisianan Terry Bradshaw.

"He's taller than Bradshaw and Bradshaw can't throw it with any more zip than Bert can or any farther than Bert," said McClendon, who recruited Bradshaw before he decided to attend Louisiana Tech.

McClendon said that Jones might also have an edge on Bradshaw because he came out of a tougher collegiate league.

"I know this, Bert has been tested in a tough league," McClendon said. "This is one thing that will help Bert immediately. This is not to fault Terry. It's just two different leagues. Terry and I are good friends. I think it's a credit he was able to come along as fast as he did."

Fact is, McClendon recruited Bradshaw before the current Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback decided on Louisiana Tech where he first got acquainted with Jones.

Jones will lead the 10th ranked Tigers Saturday night against 11th ranked Tennessee in the all-Southeastern Conference.

ence Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl in the Astrodome.

Jones' talents haven't been overlooked by the Volunteers, who enter the game with a 9-3 record.

"Just to know his capabilities scares you," said Volunteer All-SEC linebacker Jamie Rotella. "Even if we are playing great defense, he can drill us anyway. He really picked Auburn apart."

Gray's make no mistakes

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — "We made mistakes and the Grays didn't. It was that simple," Coach Vince Gibson said after his Blue squad lost 27-15 in the annual Blue-Gray football game.

One of those mistakes came during the first minute of play. Defensive back Ken Phares of Mississippi State intercepted a pass from Tony Adams of Utah State and ran it back 34 yards for a Gray touchdown.

Quarterback Don Strock of VPI, who gained more yardage than any other college back this year, led the South to victory Wednesday night and was named the game's most valuable player.

Strock, who was also tops in passing, couldn't connect with a scoring pass in the game, but did pilot the South in their touchdown drives.

"Coach Charlie Coffey's squad was well prepared and played nearly flawless football. But we lost three interceptions and our receivers dropped too many passes and those blunders killed us," the North coach from Kansas State said.

Adams, who ranked just behind Strock nationally in total offense during the regular season, put together one scoring drive and climaxed it with a 16-yard touchdown pass to Doug Winslow of Drake in the first period.

The North's backup quarterback Dennis Morrison of Kansas State engineered another scoring march in the final two minutes with Martin Janusiewicz of Syracuse diving over from the four.

Rice's Mark Williams kicked two field goals for the Grays besides booting two extra points.

Phares was selected as the Grays' most valuable defensive player.

The Blues have not won the college all-star classic since 1967 but the North and the South tied in 1968. The Grays lead the series 20-13-1.

Bobby Unser confident of breaking record

NEW YORK (AP) — When cigar-chomping Barney Oldfield blazed around the crushed stone surface of Indianapolis Motor Speedway at 76.27 miles per hour in 1909, nobody ever thought of 200 m.p.h.

Now, 64 years later, Bobby Unser, who has gone faster on a closed race course than any other human, says confidently that the 200 barrier will be broken at the ancient speedway next May.

"I ran 197.5 there just a month ago during Goodyear tire tests," the Albuquerque speed specialist said in a telephone interview. "and I was doing it very easily."

"I am sure," he added, "that when we bring our Oldsmobile Eagle to the Speedway in May, the 200 m.p.h. mark will not be out of reach. In fact, we are gearing for it."

He no doubt will be proven right in his prediction. The never ending search for speed at the speedway has brought about dramatic changes in the last dozen years in race cars, tires and other accessories, and a breed of drivers who not only are fearless but more versed in engineering than the men who built the original speedway machines.

It was a 53-year struggle to get from Oldfield's 76.27 m.p.h. to the 150 barrier, then only 11 years to reach the threshold of 200 m.p.h.

But the first round of qualifying for the 1972 Indianapolis 500 was a forecast of what could happen next May. On that first day of trials, the new one-lap, 2.5-mile record was held briefly by six different drivers and the speed jumped from Pete Revson's 179.354 of 1971 to 196.678 by Unser on his third qualifying lap en route to the pole position.

Unser put together three laps at 194.932, 196.036 and 196.678 before slowing slightly on his fourth circuit.

"Those four laps," Unser recalled, "opened a whole new world for Indianapolis. With the airfoils on the cars and the advance in race tire technology, we are now reaching speeds in the turns never dreamed of on a track originally designed for nothing more than 100 m.p.h.

"I don't think now that there is a maximum speed for any race track. You never know what new developments will come along and allow you to go quicker."

"I'd bet money you'll see 200 at the Speedway in May, but after that, well, who knows. It just depends on what happens—and how long the drivers can hold their breath."

Saints Coach may stay

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — John Mecom Jr., majority owner of the New Orleans Saints, says Coach J.D. Roberts may keep his job, the New Orleans Times-Picayune reported today.

In a wide ranging telephone interview from his Houston home, Mecom also blasted ex-Saints player Dave Parks and said he will be talking to Baltimore Colts star John Unitas in the next few days, possibly about a coaching job.

"I can't positively say J.D. will be back, but it's 80-20 that he will," Mecom said.

Morris braced for trouble

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Eugene "Mercury" Morris, speedy son of a Pittsburgh truck driver, is going home.

Well, sort of going home. "Call it going back, not going home," Morris said. "My memories of Pittsburgh are mostly cold and hard, usually involving some kind of struggle."

Morris, who ran for 1,000 yards during the regular National Football League season, is again braced for "some kind of struggle" in the city of steel.

He and the rest of the undefeated Miami Dolphins meet the Steelers in Sunday's American Conference championship game at Three Rivers Stadium.

Mercury scooted away from Pittsburgh at age 18, heading for college in Texas before bouncing on to the Dolphins three seasons ago with the NCAA career rushing record. Until this fall, Morris played sparingly and was hampered by injuries. Finally, cast in a three-man ground attack with Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick, his luck changed.

"I've got tickets for my dad, my mother and all the relatives in Pittsburgh. After the game, we'll have some laughs, that is if we've won. But I won't forget the tough 18 years I spent in that town."

Morris and the other Dolphins took note when Oakland tight end Bob Moore was cracked over the head by police prior to last week's playoff game in Pittsburgh. The Raider player was sifting through a Steeler pep rally after attending a movie and the police wouldn't believe it was an Oakland player.

Virus plagues Trojan team

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Virus bugs which have whipped the Ohio State center now are in the attack against the Southern California Trojans.

"Six of our youngsters have the virus or flu," said Coach John McKay. "We think all will be fine by game time. It's just a bug that's going around."

Earlier in the week, starting sophomore center Steve Myers of the Buckeyes was reported out of the Rose Bowl game because of a virus attack, described by Ohio State doctors as probably mononucleosis.

However, Coach Woody Hayes said there was no indication that any other of his Ohio State players was affected by the ailment.

McKay said Wednesday line-backers Ken Gray, Ray Rodriguez, Kevin Bruce and All-American Richard Wood plus running back Rod McNeill and defensive end Jeff Winans were all ailing.

'Bama players figure they have something to prove

By DENNE H. FREEMAN Associated Press Sports Writer DALLAS (AP) — You might call the 37th Cotton Bowl clash between fourth-ranked Alabama and seventh-ranked Texas the "incentive bowl."

The New Year's Day joust between the powers of the Southeast and Southwest Conference offers a mile-long list of reasons for victory.

For one thing, Alabama Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant has never beaten a Darrel Royal-coached team. The proud Bear is 0-2-1 against Royal-coached teams.

Alabama, in fact, has never

Czechs down Canada in hockey race

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Czechoslovakia upped its record to two victories Wednesday night in a penalty-plagued 5-1 World Hockey Tournament downing of Canada.

Czechoslovakia plays Russia Friday night in the final game of the Colorado Springs series. There is no game tonight. Saturday night the round-robin tournament moves to Bloomington, Minn., with Russia playing Canada.

beaten Texas. It is 0-5-1 against the Longhorns down through the years.

The Crimson Tide also lost in its last Cotton Bowl appearance—21-17 to Texas A&M in 1967.

And last but not least, the 'Bama players figure they have something to prove after Auburn's come-from-behind 17-16 victory over Alabama in the last game of the regular season.

In fact, the loss to Auburn may be the greatest spur to the Alabama team which boasts a 10-1 record.

"We know we've got to restore a little pride," says Alabama quarterback Terry Davis. "I think the game itself will motivate everybody. It was unbelievable the way we lost that (Auburn) game. We've got something to prove now."

A victory over Texas would give Alabama an outside shot at the national championship, decided in a poll of writers after the bowl games. Ahead of 'Bama in the rankings are Southern California, Oklahoma and Ohio State.

Texas would love a victory over Alabama to climb in the national rankings and also halt a two-year losing skid in the Cotton Bowl Classic in which the 'Horns have been the host the last five years.

"We're hungry for a Cotton Bowl victory—that's for sure," says Royal.

Under Royal, Texas teams are 4-4 in the Cotton Bowl and a victory would keep him above the break-even mark.

A Cotton Bowl official set the tone for the Texas-Alabama match when he said:

"There's no secret that Bear would dearly love to beat Darrell... That's why he wanted to come here instead of playing Nebraska again in the Orange Bowl."

"Also, he just might have a better chance of beating Texas than Nebraska, although the Longhorns have improved tremendously over the last half of the season."

Landry holding out to last minute

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Coach Tom Landry was to name his starting quarterback for Sunday's National Conference title game with Washington today and if he went by vote of the Cowboy fans it would be Craig Morton.

Morton nipped Roger Staubach in most popular player balloting conducted by a local dairy but the votes were counted before Staubach's two touchdown passes in 38 seconds to defeat San Francisco last week in their playoff game.

Considering the boos Morton received at Texas Stadium this year, the ballot was still something of an upset.

"I'm surprised to say the least," Morton said. "Things sure do work in funny circles." Landry's decision to wait until today to name his starting quarterback was not surprising. He admitted he wanted Washington to sweat it out as long as possible.

"It changes the pass rush and containment depending on which quarterback we have in the game," Landry said. "Roger will move from the pocket but Craig sets up in it."

He added "I think either quarterback can win." The Cowboys have been heartened by the vast improvement in defensive tackle Bob Lilly, who was suffering from muscle spasms in his back.

HIG BASS—Christmas vacation fishing paid off for Bill Steele of Hope. Steele, above, landed a 6 lb. 1 oz. bass on a 'Little George' while fishing in a pond near Hope.

Sun Bowl clash is Saturday

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Unranked Texas Tech arrives today for its Sun Bowl clash with ninth-rated North Carolina Saturday.

The Tar Heels arrived Wednesday on this city by the banks of the Rio Grande and Coach Bill Dooley immediately heaped praise on the Red Raiders, who finished in a tie for second place in the Southwest Conference.

"Texas Tech is a much better team than its record shows and if it wasn't for injuries they would have finished in the top 10 and won the Southwest Conference championship," Dooley said.

Tech finished with an 8-3 record compared to the 10-1 mark compiled by the Atlantic Coast Conference champion Tar Heels, who lost only to Rose Bowl-bound Ohio State.

Dooley said Texas Tech's option attack impresses him, particularly quarterback Joe Barnes.

Dooley said Barnes "is especially quick on the option. He looks like he'll be hard to stop." Tech has been something of a snakebite victim in previous Sun Bowls, losing six out of seven. Dooley was an assistant at Georgia under brother Vince in 1964 when the Bulldogs edged the Red Raiders 7-0.

Lumberjacks strike gold this season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches, Tex., is nearing the start of its 80th year, and with a slight variation on the anniversary theme, the 1972-3 basketball campaign is being referred to as "the year of the golden promise."

So far, the theme has been working to perfection. The Lumberjacks have struck nothing but gold this season, winning all seven of their games, and this week, they again were named the No. 1 team in The Associated Press college division poll.

In retaining the top spot, the Lumberjacks received 10 of 14 first-place nominations and a total of 284 points in the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters.

The Lumberjacks will try for their eighth victory tonight, meeting Luther, Iowa, in the opening game of the Granite City Classic at St. Cloud, Minn. They won the tournament last year en route to a 31-3 record—the most victories in the school's history.

"Potentially, this could be our best team," said Marshall Brown, in his 14th season as head coach. The reason for Brown's optimism is that the Lumberjacks have their entire starting five back from last season.

Wisconsin-Eau Claire, also 7-0, advanced one place to second this week, and Louisiana Tech, 7-1, climbed one notch to third. Roanoke, 6-1, was idle last week and fell two spots to fourth.

Rounding out the Top Ten were Kentucky State; Albany State, Ga.; Augustana, Ill.; Old Dominion; Alabama State, and Tennessee State.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-8-etc.:

Dear Abby, foremost column for women, will return to Hope Star Jan 1, 1973, after an absence of 8 years

Dear Abby

December 18, 1972

Dear Mr. Washburn:

First, many thanks for your letter, which was delayed in reaching me because my address is no longer 9229 Sunset Blvd. It is 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Ca. 90212

However, though the details are now somewhat fuzzy, the story of McNaught's shenanigans are familiar, and you may rest assured that I shall ask Arthur Laro, head of the Chicago-Tribune New York News Syndicate (which now syndicates my column) to give you every courtesy.

Arthur Laro is the soul of integrity, which is the reason I chose his syndicate above all the others when I left McNaught.

I am sending your letter to him with my personal plea that he give you every consideration...as a personal favor to me.

Much as I dislike being dropped, I must salute you for your guts in not permitting yourself to be blackjacked by McNaught.

Cordially

P. S. In the interest of time, I TELEPHONED Mr. Laro in New York and read him your letter and by the time this reaches you, you'll probably have heard from him. Please let me hear from you soonest.

Alex, what took you so long in deciding you wanted Dear Abby back? When I think of all the goodies your readers missed in the meantime, I could weep!

cc: Mr. Laro

Hope Star introduced the Dear Abby column to Arkansas in 1964, signing a contract with the McNaught Syndicate, New York, for this one feature.

The contract had run only a year when McNaught demanded that The Star take on two other of the syndicate's features or lose the Dear Abby column. The Star canceled Abby in 1965.

The result was that Abby personally requested by phone from Los Angeles permission to use our correspondence file to break her contract with McNaught, which contract, she said, had been breached by the pressure approach using her as a pry-pole to sell additional features.

The Star forwarded its file to her May 7, 1965, and she switched from McNaught to the Chicago Tribune New York News Syndicate, with whom we have executed a new contract starting Jan. 1, 1973.

Here is The Star editorial of March 24, 1965, which told the whole story:

Our Daily Bread

Sliced Thin by The Editor
Alex. H. Washburn

Editor in a Jam Imagination Writes a Letter

The battle between the sexes has been on ever since the world began—but almost as old is the war between newspapers and the syndicates which furnish their national features, such as cartoons and columns.

It is my unpleasant duty to report that The Star will drop the "Dear Abby" woman's feature column after this Friday's edition. Its successor beginning Monday, March 29, will be "Helen Help Us," by Helen Bottel, running six days a week. Mrs. Bottel's column is distributed to 100 dailies by King Features world's largest syndicate ("Blondie", "Flash Gordon").

A lot of people aren't going to like this, but also a lot of people never heard of "Dear Abby" until your editor dismissed "Dorothy Dix" and hunted up "Abby" as a replacement. We've had "Abby" only since last April, she, like her predecessor being the solitary feature purchased from her particular syndicate. The syndicate sent a man around Arkansas this month demanding of the newspapers: "Buy another feature from us or we jerk 'Abby'."

The Star carries one of the heaviest feature budgets of any paper its size in the nation. To keep "Abby" we would have had to pay for a second feature and put it on the shelf—no room in which to print it. Besides, ultimatums make us belligerent.

Sure, "Abby" is good. So is The Star's circulation, which is more important than any one feature however good. And if our judgment on "Abby" was sound 11 months ago you can trust us on the selection of "Helen Help Us" as her successor.

If the editor is in a jam you may be interested in hearing what "Abby's" syndicate proposed: Buy one of their cartoons and cancel King Features' "Flash Gordon." I rejected that, killed the "Abby" syndicate and bought "Helen" from King.

The oldest strategy in the war between syndicates and newspapers is to sell one top-notch feature, get it established in a newspaper's circulation—and then expand the syndicate's business by threatening to withdraw the top-rated feature. The syndicate figures the newspaper will think twice before risking a storm of protests from subscribers—but an ultimatum means trouble and trouble should be met today instead of second-guessing it tomorrow.

Should I get a letter dusting me off about "Abby" it might go like this:

Dear sir and editor: I was just about to write Dear Abby a letter when I read that you had killed her.

So I'll write you instead. Drop dead!

And if I got such a letter I would be framing a reply along the lines of a quotation which Paul Klipsch attributes to Winston Churchill:

A woman told Churchill:

"If I were your wife I'd put poison in your coffee."

Replied Churchill:

"Madam, if I were your husband I'd drink it!"

How do you like your hockey centers?

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
How do you like your hockey centers—slick and smooth like Garry Unger of the St. Louis Blues or rugged and rough like Dennis Hextall of the Minnesota North Stars?

Those two opposite styled pivots submarined Chicago and Montreal Wednesday night as the Blues and North Stars scored victories over the National Hockey League's two division leaders.

Unger scored two goals and assisted on St. Louis' other three scores in a 5-3 victory over West Division leading Chicago. Hextall set up two goals, helping Minnesota nip Montreal's East Division leaders 3-2.

Minnesota's victory combined with Chicago's loss moved the second place North Stars within three points of the Black Hawks in the West while second place Boston topped Atlanta 3-1 to move within one point of Montreal in the East.

Elsewhere Wednesday night, the Buffalo Sabres stung the

New York Rangers 4-1, Pittsburgh tied Toronto 3-3, Los Angeles whipped the New York Islanders 4-1 and Philadelphia tied California 2-2.

Two of Unger's assists came on goals by Mike Murphy as the Blues battled from behind to whip Chicago.

Hextall assisted on a pair of second period goals by Danny Grant and Barry Gibbs to lead Minnesota past Montreal. Dean Prentice scored the third period goal that turned out to be the winner for the North Stars.

Goalie Cesare Maniago kicked out 35 shots in the Minnesota nets as the North Stars extended their home ice unbeaten string to 13 games, by beating Montreal goalie Ken Dryden. The loss ended a six-game unbeaten streak for the Canadiens.

Dryden's older brother, Dave, fared better, leading Buffalo past the New York Rangers. The elder Dryden made 32 saves as teammate Gil Perreault scored one goal and assisted on another for the victory.

Boston bunched all their goals in the second period with Wayne Cashman, Fred Stanfield and Johnny Bucyk connecting against Flames' goalie Phil Myre. Curt Bennett spoiled John Adams' shutout bid with a third period goal for Atlanta.

Ron Schock's goal with less than six minutes left gave Pittsburgh its tie against Toronto. Ron Ellis had given the Maple Leafs the lead nine minutes earlier before Schock's eighth goal of the season.

Bob Berry's goal with only 30 seconds left in the opening period started Los Angeles to its victory over the New York Islanders. It was Berry's 29th of the season.

LA's other goals came by Mike Corrigan, Bill Leask and Harry Howell. Craig Cameron's third period goal averted a shutout for the Islanders, who managed only 16 shots compared to 35 for the Kings.

The Flyers had to come from behind with a pair of second period goals by Tom Bladen and Bobby Clarke to earn the deadlock.

Rita Putts for New Trophies

Rita Hayworth There is still magic in her name.

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD - (NEA) - The age of the Love Goddess is gone. This is The Age of the Dog. Instead of Pin-Up Girls these days we mostly have Throw-Up Girls in Hollywood. Today's female stars have the sex appeal of a second-hand Mack truck.

Which brings us to a consideration of Rita Hayworth, probably the greatest Love Goddess of them all. In the days when men were men and women were beautiful, she dazzled the world. And she lived her parts, too, marrying great actors and Oriental potentates and leaving a trail of broken hearts in her wondrous wake.

It is nice to report that today, at whatever age she happens to be, she still looks pretty good. There are a few extra pounds here and there and, naturally, she can't pass for 23 any more but she still has the exquisite face, the glorious hair and the air of the conquering tigress.

She's still active, too, and is just off to England for another film. She says she's been averaging "a good film a year for the last 12 years."

50 YEARS OF HISTORY

NEW YORK (AP) - The Sandy Amoros catch that helped Brooklyn win its only World Series, Yogi Berra's muf of a foul pop in Allie Reynolds' second no-hit game of 1951 and Al Giofriddo's one-handed catch of a 400-foot Joe DiMaggio drive. They are all there in "Yankee Stadium—50 Years of Drama," (Houghton Mifflin Co. $12.50 by Joseph Durso).

Early printings on page 46 show Johnny Podres, who blanked the Yankees in their home park, 2-0, in the final 1955 Series game, jumping into the arms of catcher Roy Campanella. A bit late for his pummeling act, is identified as Pee Wee Reese. The book is brilliantly written and stacked with photographs that go back to the glory days of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. After Jan. 1 the 155-page 9 1/2 by 10 1/2 book will sell for $15.

SHORT RBS

I DO BELIEVE MY SUBJECTS ARE GETTING READY TO STONE ME.

I MUST NOT APPEAR COWARDLY.

MAY I BORROW YOUR ARMOR?

"I'm an actress," she says, "and I work at my business."

Doing one film a year leaves her with a lot of free, nonprofessional time. It's hard to visualize the Rita Hayworth of the pin-ups becoming an athlete but that's the terrible truth.

"I've become a pretty good golfer," she says, "and I even have a trophy to prove it."

She and pro golfer Marlene Hagge won the Pro-Am phase of Dinah Shore's tournament in Palm Springs. At one point, Rita sank a 60-foot putt—"and it was downhill, which is the hardest kind for me."

She also plays a lot of backgammon. She says she learned that game as a child from a couple who were backgammon hustlers and plied their trade on the trans-Atlantic luxury liners. They taught her all they knew. So make a note - don't ever play backgammon with Rita Hayworth for money.

When she isn't golfing or backgammoning, "I read and do things," but exactly what sort of "things" she wouldn't specify.

If she wanted to she could be considerably more active with her career. There's still magic in her name and producers are constantly knocking on her door with projects. She's been offered a flock of frivolous TV series but no thanks.

"I like to do as much as I can," she says, "but I won't do a TV dramatic part. I don't much like what I see on the home screen."

Unlike many of her contemporaries she sees much good in today's movies. She doesn't like everything she sees but neither does she issue a blanket condemnation of the new style of film-making.

"I like some of the new, free, experimental movies," she says. "Actually, about half of the movies I've seen I've liked. Half I didn't like. The ones I liked weren't Disney-type films, either."

"I feel the freedom has gone about as far as it can go and I think the next few years will see the pendulum swinging the other way."

She talked about mistakes she's made, both privately and professionally. She claims to be pretty good at sizing people up at first meeting, owning and operating what she says is a good women's intuition.

"I've made a few mistakes—boy, have I!—but I think even the mistakes worked out for the best," she says. "I wouldn't have changed anything in my life."

There was one mistake she made, in her acting career, which she regrets, even though that, too, worked out for the best. Once she was offered a role opposite Cary Grant in a movie about a dancing caterpillar called "Once Upon a Caterpillar."

"I felt," she says, "that I could dance better than any caterpillar so why should I appear in a film about one? I would have liked working with Cary Grant, but a dancing caterpillar?"

She suggested to her boss at Columbia, the legendary Harry Cohn, that there was another story she'd rather do. He agreed—but, so his reputation as an ogre wouldn't suffer, he put her on suspension for two months because she turned down the "Caterpillar" thing.

As things turned out they made "Once Upon a Caterpillar," with Janet Blair instead of Rita Hayworth. It was forgettable. The picture she had suggested turned out to be "Cover Girl," one of her big ones.

All that era is gone now. The years have come and gone and Rita Hayworth has outgrown the Love Goddess time, too. Exactly how old she is is her business but she doesn't matter much. She's still a great-looking woman and they aren't making any Rita Hayworths these days.

MRS. FURTWANGLER COMES TO U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Elisabeth Furtwangler, widow of the famous German conductor Wilhelm Furtwangler, has arrived in the United States, as guest of the National Arts Foundation.

She attended the opening night of the Metropolitan Opera's new production of "Siegfried," the Chicago Opera, the Chicago Symphony, San Francisco Opera and Los Angeles Philharmonic. She also was interviewed on a Saturday afternoon intermission of a Metropolitan Opera "Die Walkure."

Furtwangler, who died in 1954, had recorded Wagner's "Ring" operas, which were recently released.

Mrs. Furtwangler also is speaking in 10 American universities and in Symphony Hall in Boston.

There's a vast silence around here since we suggested the wife get out all her hats and save them for the year-end party.

It is with a deep sense of wonder and gratitude that we think of the many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy in the recent illness and death of our loved one, Mrs. Eunice Barnett. We will always appreciate the many friends and relatives who responded so generously in our time of need. Our deepest thanks go also to Doctors Wright and Holt and to the wonderful staff of Hempstead County Memorial Hospital.

Stage being set for campaign for state tax relief

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A vigorous campaign apparently will be waged in the next session of the Arkansas General Assembly for state tax relief.

If it comes off, the effort will be made in the face of opposition by Gov. Dale Bumpers, who got the legislature to raise taxes two years ago, and against warnings by some legislators that to reduce taxes would only enhance the chance that they would have to be increased again in the future.

"We will be increasing the costs of state government," said Rep. Joel Y. Ledbetter of Little Rock of the upcoming legislative session. "If the economy slows down and we cut taxes, we probably could not meet the budget."

"We should make the best of our present situation so no new tax increase will be necessary in the next few years," says Rep. elect James H. Brewer of Trumann.

But Sen. Knox Nelson of Pine Bluff, with what he says is good support among his colleagues, wants to way tax cut for at least the next two years.

Nelson has said he is considering asking the legislature exempt from the income tax all families of four or more with incomes below $5,000 a year and to extend tax credits to other income brackets. He is expected to make known the specifics of his plan soon. If it does not work out, he has said, the legislature can restore the taxes when it meets again in 1975.

The senator also has talked of a cut in corporate income taxes, which were increased in 1969. Others too, have mentioned the possibility.

Several other tax-cutting proposals also have been discussed. They include abolition of the three per cent tax on repair services and extension of homestead exemptions to the elderly.

The catalyst for the tax-relief talk has been the general revenue surplus accumulating in the state treasury that is expected to approach $100 million by the end of the current fiscal year June 30. Nelson cites the surplus as the prime reason for his proposal.

But Rep. Charles "Bubba" Wade of Texarkana does not expect tax-cutting attempts to succeed. Historically, he says, the legislature imposes new taxes rather than reduces them. He said, however, that there apparently was a miscalculation by the governor's office in the amount of revenues that would be generated by the 1971 tax program.

"I think our surplus is proof of this fact," he said.

Bumpers has said that the 1971 tax program, which featured adjustments in the individual income taxes, tied the tax structure to the state's economy—as the economy expands, revenues increase—and headed off the need for new general revenue taxes in the next few years. That does not preclude the possibility of an increase in the gasoline tax, which is a special revenue tax, to finance highway construction, an issue the legislature is sure to confront.

Bumpers has said the 1971 tax revision has helped put Arkansas in its best economic condition ever. He has said he is opposed to attempts to cut back on the taxes, but has suggested possible tax relief for low-income brackets. A number of legislators responding to questions from The Associated Press say they support attempts to reduce the tax burden of the poor.

"I would probably support a cutback on taxes if the greatest relief was on the lower end of the income level," said Rep. elect Henry Wilkins III of Pine Bluff.

Sen. Max Howell of Jacksonville thinks there will be "some reduction in taxes, particularly in the lower income brackets."

Sen. M. Morrell Gathright of Pine Bluff said a general tax reduction had merit, "but as a practical matter, it won't get anywhere."

Rep. Kenneth R. Camp of Brookland said any tax reductions would have to be weighed "in the context of programs approved."

While there might be a move allied to an attempt to cut individual income taxes to reduce corporate taxes, indications from some legislators were that they would resist efforts to trim the tax bills of businesses.

Other tax-relief measures expected to be offered to the legislature include elimination of the three per cent sales tax on prescription drugs.

Rule denied meeting with Warner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gordon Rule, the Navy cost-controller who was demoted after criticizing the President, has been denied a meeting with Navy Secretary John Warner and has been told to pursue any protest with the admiral who ordered the demotion.

Rule was turned aside Wednesday when he sought a meeting with Warner to discuss the demotion.

Instead, Warner ordered that Rule must go through "channels" and lodge any protest with Adm. Isaac Kidd who wants Rule shunted to a backwater job.

A veteran civilian cost controller for the Navy, Rule was ordered reassigned as a lower-echelon consultant last week after criticizing President Nixon's appointment of Roy Ash as the government's top budget officer. Ash formerly was president of Litton Industries which is involved in a dispute with the Navy over ship-building contracts.

"The entire matter is being handled through established command channels and now rests with Adm. Kidd, for whom Rule works," the Navy told The Associated Press. "For the moment, the secretary has no plans to see or talk with Mr. Rule."

Kidd, chief of naval materiel, ordered Rule reassigned as a senior consultant to help modernize the curriculum at the Navy Logistic Management School.

Sources indicated the matter may still reach Warner, but not before Rule routes his appeal through Kidd.

Asked what he will do now, Rule said "I will have to make up my mind in the next several days."

He has said he will not accept reassignment and is currently on leave with pay from his $36,000-a-year job.

"All of a sudden the Navy wants to go through strict channels," Rule said.

"That's exactly what I've been trying to get the Navy to do in contracting discussions—to lay off summit meetings and start with the contracting officers."

Rule was referring to what he said are inclinations of contractor executives to deal with top admirals rather than lower-ranking staff professionals.

The Navy has said Rule was reassigned from his post as director of Navy Procurement Control because Kidd "had lost confidence in Mr. Rule's judgment."

During 10 years in that job, Rule more than once has irritated Navy brass with his blunt criticism of certain Navy policies and performance.

What got Rule into deep trouble this time was his testimony Dec. 19 before the Senate-House Economic Committee headed by Sen. William Proxmire D-Wis., one of the most persistent critics of defense buying policies.

Under committee questioning, Rule said it was a serious mistake for Nixon to appoint Ash to head the Office of Management and Budget.

Rule also faulted Litton's shipbuilding division at Pascagoula, Miss., for cost overruns and delays under contracts covering construction of helicopter assault ships and other vessels.

blackmail and release prisoners.

Two of the terrorists wore white tie and tails, posing as diplomats returning from the investiture today of the crown prince of Thailand.

They walked through the embassy gate and "bowed and smiled to me," said Pvt. Sunchai Pienkarn, the policeman on guard there.

Sunchai said he then saw two other men climb over a side wall of the embassy compound.

"They had leather-type jackets on that looked like bullet-proof jackets we use in the police force," he reported.

These two were carrying sub-machine guns, and the two in evening dress apparently had guns under their coats.

Sunchai said the four men ordered him "into the embassy building, rounded up all the Thai employees and shouted 'Go! Go!' in English. When the Thais fled, the Arabs bolted the front door and shut all the windows."

Sunchai ran to a telephone outside the compound and called the local police station. More than 300 police and troops rushed to the compound and surrounded the embassy building.

The Israeli government said five Israelis were being held inside, including First Secretary Nitzhan Hadassa, his wife and the wife of a clerk.

The terrorists threw out two notes containing a list of the 36 Palestinians for whom freedom was demanded.

Today's hand is taken from the finals of the life master men's pairs. Play in this event is supposed to be of the highest order, but South's play at five diamonds can be taken as a model of what not to do.

He started out right by winning the heart lead. At trick two he led a spade to dummy's king. East took his ace and led back the three of clubs. South won in dummy; led a diamond and finessed his jack. West won and led back the jack of clubs to South's king. South ruffed a heart; came back to his hand with the queen of spades; ruffed another heart with dummy's nine of trumps; ruffed a spade back to his hand; led and ruffed his last heart with dummy's last trump.

East overruffed with the seven-spot. Remember, South had used up the nine earlier in the play. Then East led a fourth spade and West was able to score his king of trumps on an over-ruff to set South two tricks.

Let's see what South did wrong. To start with, he should have played his ace of diamonds at trick two. That would have produced an honor for West whereupon South should have played his king of clubs; a club to dummy's ace; a ruff of a third club and the play of a second trump.

This same line should have been followed after East was obliging enough to lead back a club, and finally, if South had just held back dummy's nine of trumps for the ruff of the last heart he would still have made his contract.

'Dual school' is charged in suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A civil suit was filed Wednesday by the Justice Department against the Conway County Board of Education, the six separate school districts within the county, and the state of Arkansas.

The suit said the state established East Side School District No. 5 and the Center School of Conway County School District No. 1 as Negro components of a dual school system in the county and has maintained them as all-Negro vestiges of the segregated system.

This resulted in a denial of equal educational opportunities to Negro children attending those schools and violates the 14th Amendment and the Civil Rights Act, the suit charged.

The suit said the East Side district was highly irregular in shape, consisting of 11 noncontiguous areas. The district includes Negro residential areas but excludes white residential areas.

Because of the irregular shape of the district, some black children must travel about 25 miles by bus to school in Menifee, passing near or by the schools of the five predominantly white districts, the suit said.

The suit also noted that the student bodies and faculty of the East Side District always have been virtually all-Negro. During the 1971-72 school year, the district enrolled 313 Negro students and one white student and employed 17 Negro teachers and one white teacher.

In addition, the suit said, members of the school board always have been Negroes, as have been all administrative personnel.

The suit said that Center School enrolled 81 of the district's 93 Negro students during the 1971-72 school year, and only four of the district's 72 white students.

During the same period, four of the district's five Negro teachers and two of its six white teachers were assigned to the Center School, the suit claimed.

The suit said that white children living in the community of Cleveland are bused directly past the Center School to the school in Wonderview.

The suit said there are other feasible methods of school district organization in Conway County that will result in equal opportunities being afforded to the Negro students attending the East Side district and the Center School.

The department asked the court to issue preliminary and permanent injunctions forbidding the defendants from discrimination against the Negro students of East Side School District No. 5 and the Center School.

The requested court orders would also require the defendants to immediately adopt and implement a plan to correct the effects of the alleged past racial discrimination.

Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said he had received a written complaint from parents of Negro school children alleging that their children are being deprived of equal educational opportunity in Conway County.

Frazier fight on closed circuit tv

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mid-South Sports, Inc., has been granted closed-circuit television rights for Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi for the Jan. 22 world heavyweight boxing match between Joe Frazier and George Foreman.

Mike Lynn, president of the Memphis firm, said the bout will be broadcast from Kingston, Jamaica, via satellite.

He said his group will show the match at Ellis Auditorium in Memphis, Barton Coliseum in Little Rock, Municipal Auditorium in Nashville, Civic Auditorium in Knoxville and Memorial Auditorium in Chattanooga.

Epidemic not likely in Managua

By JOHN PLATERO
Associated Press Writer
MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Foreign doctors say enough medical personnel and supplies are on hand to ward off any typhoid or typhus epidemic in the earthquake-devastated Nicaraguan capital.

"There is no epidemic in Managua today," said Dr. Juan Jose Chirri of Panama. "We are probably going to avoid an outbreak of diseases."

U.S. relief officials expressed satisfaction with the arrival of tons of grain, flour and powdered milk. Nicaraguan officials said more trucks were needed to get the food to 19 distribution points set up outside the city to draw persons away from the ruins.

They said supplies were piled up at the airport and even in the front yard of Gen. Anastasio Somoza, the country's ruler.

President of Korea named

TOKYO (AP) — Kim Il-sung, premier of North Korea since 1948, was elected president of the country Thursday under a new constitution, the official Korean Central News Agency reported.

A KCNA broadcast said a session of the Supreme People's Assembly—the one-house parliament—also elected two vice presidents. Choi Yong-un and Kang Ryang-uk.

Kim, 60, is expected to continue as secretary general of the ruling Workers' Party, the office of chief power in Communist countries.

Kim has been premier since North Korea was founded in 1948. He was succeeded by Kim Il, the first deputy premier and one of his most trusted aides.

Most other cabinet posts remained unchanged.

The senior choir of the church will provide the music for the 11:00 a.m. service. There will be no early evening service Sunday.

Club has Christmas Party
The Junior Anna P. Strong Federated Club held its Christmas party at the City Park Youth Center on Dec. 23, at 3:00 p.m. Eleven members and two former members Misses Sharon Smith and Virginia Williams along with one sponsor Mrs. Martha Thompson attended.
The table was decorated with gold and white linen. Dinner was served with music in the background. The door prize was won by Miss Virginia Williams. Gifts were exchanged. Barbara Scoggins, Reporter.

The watch services scheduled to commence at 10:30 p.m. Sunday night and terminate at 12:05 Monday morning, 1973, will be the highlight of the final service series. In this service, each auxiliary of the church will function in mass song service, testimonial expressions, 1972 administrative evaluations and prayer service. Choice song selections will alternate with the adult and youth church groups. At 11:35, Dr. W.G. Wynn, church pastor will begin his special sermon, entitled, "The Closed Door". The public is invited to attend all services.

NEW FERRIES
SYDNEY (AP) — The government has ordered the building of two 600-passenger ferries for Sydney Harbor. The two, which will replace the 60-year-old Kosciuszko and Kameruka, will cost $1,000,000 (U.S.).

Talking 'pasture'

June grazing in January is part of a planned year-round pasture program for a cow-calf operation, according to Calvin J. Caldwell, county extension agent. Fescue has enough built-in cold tolerance so that much of the accumulated growth will remain alive and green through the winter months.

Work in Kentucky has shown that the sugar content of fescue more than doubles in late fall. This greatly increased the palatability and digestibility of the fescue-clover. In most cases, summer and fall growth of fescue-clover deferred for grazing after Christmas will meet the mature dry or nursing beef cow's nutritional needs without additional protein, vitamins, or energy feed.

Research workers in Kentucky report that for maximum utilization of accumulated fescue growth, winter grazing areas should be no larger than will be cleaned up in 14 to 21 days. This grazing method has produced 57 per cent more cow days grazing per acre than unrestricted grazing.

In most cases, white clover stands are reduced or lost when stockpiling fescue for winter grazing. To reestablish clover, seed two pounds of Regal white clover and six pounds of Kenland red clover per acre in February on a closely-grazed sod. Generally, clover will only become established in the soil exposed areas between the fescue crowns. Omitting spring nitrogen application will help the clover compete with the fescue. Have 50 to 65 percent production from fescue and balance from bermuda or bahia.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Two Ex-Smokers Want to Repent

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My husband and I have recently given up smoking. We each smoked about a pack a day for many years. Now we are desperately sorry for the damage we have done to our bodies. We have heard that the lungs start cleaning themselves as soon as a person stops smoking. Is this correct?

We are wondering if there is anything we can do to help our bodies recover from all the damage. You have mentioned breathing exercises for emphysema victims. Would this help us and if so what are the exercises. Would any special foods or vitamins help? Any suggestions would be appreciated.

Dear Reader — Yes, hindsight is always better than foresight, and it is too bad that people don't realize the full effects of their habits before they form them.

Both men and women who smoke two packs of cigarettes a day or more were found in a survey to lose 50 per cent more time from work, spend 50 per cent more time in bed, and had about twice as many days of restricted activity as non-smokers. The death rate in men 55 to 64 years of age, who smoked 20 cigarettes or more a day was about three times that observed in non-smokers of the same age group.

There is an unending list of problems associated with heavy cigarette smoking which includes face wrinkles and aging of the skin, sudden death from heart disease, increased incidence of ulcers, sinusitis, lung disease, and perhaps a host of other problems that haven't even been identified. Without even getting to the serious problem of lung cancer particularly common in men.

It is true that as soon as you stop smoking a reversal of some of these problems occurs. The chronic poisoning effect from nicotine begins to diminish and some of the problems related to the increased incidence of peptic ulcers disappears. In fortunate individuals some of the problems related to the respiratory tract begin to disappear. In men after they have stopped smoking for at least 10 years, their death rate begins to approach the same level noted in individuals who have never smoked.

You can improve your general health at the time you quit smoking. Avoid getting fat and develop a sensible exercise program. Cigarette smoking has the opposite effect on the body from physical fitness.

I believe it is important for people to have good regular respiratory exercises. Much of the act of breathing is associated with the strength and capacity of the chest cage itself; that is, the ribs and the attached muscles. You have to be careful about doing some of these because some of them will cause you to feel faint. I usually recommend that people sit down in a comfortable chair, sit up straight with their hands on top of their head and interlock their fingers. Then take as deep a breath as possible, slowly, and then let it all out slowly. Rest a few seconds and then repeat the procedure. If you breathe too deeply too rapidly you will cause faintness, so do it gradually, but four or five maximum breathing efforts a day helps to maintain the full range of capacity of the lungs. These are useful whether a person has smoked or not.

Legislators are talking of a long session

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State legislators already are talking of a need to extend the 69th General Assembly convening Jan. 8 to run beyond the normal 60-day session.

Such extensions have become routine in recent years because of increasing legislative business, but early forecasts of extra work days for the upcoming session are based on the prospect that the assembly may face the heaviest work load yet.

The legislature will face an unusual list of thorny issues—such as highway improvements, division of a record state revenue surplus, no-fault automobile insurance and restoration of capital punishment in a manner that would comply with the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing the death penalty as it is presently applied.

These were the topics mentioned most frequently by legislators who responded to a questionnaire from The Associated Press asking them what they figured to be major issues in the session.

They were in addition to familiar issues such as education and the battle by cities and counties for more state aid—this time for an unprecedented cut of 3 per cent of general revenues for the counties and 4 per cent for the cities.

Also on the legislative calendar may be revision of the application of the property tax as a source of local support for the public schools. Action in Arkansas would depend on whether the Supreme Court, now considering the matter, upholds lower court rulings that the property tax to support the schools is discriminatory to poor districts.

In a change from the 1969 and 1971 sessions, no one is talking about increasing taxes. Conversely some legislators are discussing the possibility of reducing taxes, and Rep. Charles R. Moore of Luxora says this may be the No. 1 issue of the session.

Gov. Dale Bumpers, who got the legislature to pass abig tax package in 1971, has said he is opposed to cutting back on the taxes.

While the possibility of extending the session already has been mentioned, Bumpers also has said that the prospects are great for a special session of the legislature later next year. He has said a special session probably would be needed to follow up on programs approved by Congress after the regular session is adjourned.

Highway improvements were assigned a top priority by legislators responding to the AP poll. There were expressions of support for a bond issue to finance the improvements, but reservations also were raised about the state Highway Commission's proposal for a $416 million bond issue to be supported by a two-cent gasoline tax increase.

"At first glance, I would say the program raised by the Highway Commission is much too ambitious," said Rep. Calvin R. Ledbetter Jr. of Little Rock. "I would think a more limited program both in terms of funds and tax increases would be more appealing."

Some legislators said they were undecided about a method of financing road improvements. Both Rep. John E. Miller of Melbourne and Rep.-elect Lloyd George of Danville said upgrading of rural roads should be given consideration in any highway improvement plan.

The legislature may have a variety of road programs from which to choose. Miller and Rep. B.D. "Doug" Brandon of Little Rock have suggested separate proposals that would utilize revenue sharing funds and a gasoline tax increase to finance highway construction. Sen. Olen Hendrix of Prescott has said some legislators are considering a proposal under which the state would loan the Highway Department up to $30 million to match with federal dollars to accelerate road improvements. Sen. Bob Douglas has said he is thinking of introducing a bill to clear the way for building turnpikes. Arkansas has a law that would permit the construction of turnpikes that are economically feasible, but no toll road corridor in the state has been found to be feasible.

A matter that will occupy much of the legislature's time and which Rep. Gayle Windsor of Little Rock calls "an automatic categorical and perennial issue" is education.

The battle in the next session may go beyond the normal demands by educational forces for more money to a joust between those supporting and expanded community junior college system and those in favor of extending the vocational technical school system, according to some legislators.

In addition, Sen. Clarence Bell of Parkin has advocated that the state earmark $13.5 million of the revenue surplus for educational programs. This includes $8 million for the free high school textbooks. Bumpers has recommended $7.5 million for textbooks.

Granting tenure to public school teachers may also again be a source of heated legislative debate, says Rep. Rudy Moore Jr. of Springdale.

Another major issue is expected to be a lack of medical services in rural areas. Bumpers hopes to help provide better services to these areas by expanding the University of Arkansas Medical Center at Little Rock.

DICK SCHRADER
Schrader promoted

William D. Sanders, Regional Vice President of the State Farm Insurance Companies, Mid-South Regional Office, Monroe, Louisiana, announced this week the promotion of Hope's local State Farm Agent Dick Schrader to agency manager in Fort Smith.

The promotion will be effective Jan. 1. Sanders stated, "Dick Schrader has been an exemplary agent the five-and-a-half years he has represented State Farm in Hope. Dick has served the community well in all our lines of insurance. 1972 will be the third consecutive year Dick has sold one million dollars of life insurance, a milestone all life agents aspire to. We are also proud of the contribution Dick has made to his church and community," stated Sanders.

Schrader is a native Arkansan from Van Buren. A 1958 Ouachita Baptist University graduate, he served 12 years in the U.S. Army and is currently a captain in the Army Reserves.

Schrader is married to the former Betty Otwell of Malvern. They have four boys—Richard Mark, Michael Alan, Steven Mathew, and David Scott.

Bumpers spent $54,394 in '72

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers reported Wednesday he spent $54,394 in his campaign for re-election against Republican Len E. Blaylock.

Lex Moore of Harrison, a successful Democratic candidate for the House, reported spending $2,311. Henry Wilkins III of Pine Bluff, a Democrat elected to the House, said he spent $5,465, and J. W. Ramsey of Prairie Grove, a successful Democratic House candidate, said he spent $551.

CLOTHE THE NEEDY HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston School District has become the first in the state to win permission to use federal money to clothe needy children.

The Texas Education Agency has approved spending $325,000 in federal money during 1972-73 to buy clothes for needy children of the district.

About 11,000 children will be eligible to participate in the program, Houston district officials said.

Christmas party, Court of Honor held by Hope Boy Scout Troop 92

During the regular Thursday meeting Troop 92 held its annual Christmas party and a Court of Honor.

The opening prayer was led by special guest, Rev. Ralph Madison of the First Presbyterian Church. Welcoming remarks were made by Assistant Scoutmaster Bill Morgan.

The opening ceremony was on the "Four Freedoms," read by Ricky Sisson, assisted by Bobby Barger, Clay Morgan, Mark Moore and Rob Gary. Morgan then introduced the new Scouts in Troop 92. They were Albert Hodges, Tommy Kringle, Alvis Mills, Otis Campbell, Danny Reagan, Jerry and Larry Dickie.

Merit badges were presented by Scoutmaster Harold Sisson and Assistant Scoutmaster Richard Van Horn.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Highway officials in Illinois and Iowa wanted area residents to be happy with the new Interstate 280 bridge spanning the Mississippi River between Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa.

So they let the voters choose its color.

A spokesman for the Illinois Department of Public Transportation announced Wednesday that "Interstate blue and yellow" was picked by 8,300 voters who cast ballots in a poll sponsored by the Illinois department and the Iowa Highway Commission.

"Interstate blue" and "Interstate orange" were the second and third preferences. And "Interstate green" came in a poor fourth.

The blue and yellow bridge is scheduled to open next fall.

BAYARD, N.M. (AP) — A horse up to its belly in railroad ties held up a train about 30 minutes Wednesday in this southwestern New Mexico town.

Police said the horse's hind legs slipped between the ties of a railroad bridge and its front legs fell over the side.

A wrecker helped police hoist the horse from the bridge.

The horse's rider was not injured, police said. And, though the horse had some lacerations, it was not believed to be hurt seriously.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Oregon Museum of Science and Industry will try again Jan. 4 to present its program on cold weather injuries such as frostbite, chilblains, snow blindness and hypothermia.

The program had been postponed because of bad weather.

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — What do you do when your name is Achilles and you report to sick bay with a sore heel?

If you're a Marine recruit, like Daniel L. Achilles of Ithaca, your first problem is to convince the sergeant at the dispensary that it's no joke.

Then—like the Grecian hero—you bow out of the military scene.

Pvt. Achilles enlisted in the Marine Corps in October and recently had to report to the dispensary at Parris Island, where he was in training.

Luckier than his Grecian namesake, whose vulnerable heel removed him from the ranks of mortals forever, Pvt. Achilles is recuperating at home from a case of stress fracture, involving minor injuries of the heel.

Pvt. Achilles is visiting with his buddies in Ithaca, as the Greek Achilles used to do in Ithaca, Greece.

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — New Year's Eve revelers who get too drunk to drive will be offered a free ride home by Dearborn police and firemen.

"Since we're limited to geography and jurisdiction, we can only provide this service in Dearborn," said Mayor Orville L. Hubbard. "But we think it would be a good idea if other communities would join us in this program in an all-out effort to reduce the large number of accidents that traditionally occur on this holiday."

It is the second year the city is offering the service.

Hitler's car going up for bids

BY DALE BURGESS
ASSOCIATED Press Writer
AUBURN, Ind. (AP) — Auto auctioneer Deen V. Kruse keeps having this dream: lights and a crowd and he slaps the clamshell fender of a 32-year-old used car and chants:

"Going once, going twice, and sold to the gentleman with the diamond stickpin for $100,000."

He knows it's a dream, but he also knows it could come true.

Kruse and his three auctioneer brothers will offer Adolf Hitler's parade car to the highest bidder Jan. 6 at Scottsdale, Ariz.

The specially built Model 770K Mercedes-Benz is from the private collection of Tom Barrett, a Scottsdale developer.

Kruse and his brothers will sell more than 50 other antique, classic and exotic autos in the Scottsdale auction. They will include a 1912 Fiat, a 1915 Mercedes, a 1910 Stoddard-Dayton, a 1925 Locomobile Sportiff special and a 1931 Isotta-Fraschini.

But the Hitler Mercedes is the top of the line.

Does Kruse actually think somebody will pay $100,000 for the armor-plated German mechanical jewel?

"That depends entirely upon how bad some museum or collector wants it," he said.

The Mercedes has to be one of the most looked-at cars in history.

Hitler transported himself, Mussolini, Baron Mannerheim and other notables in it on state occasions as millions hailed.

Der Fuehrer finally gave it to Mannerheim, who shipped it from Finland to Sweden to keep the Russians from getting it. The Swedish government seized it for taxes after Mannerheim's death.

The Swedes traded the car to an American importing firm for an undisclosed quantity of ball bearings. For a time it was exhibited in the Museum of Science and Industry at Rockefeller Center, New York.

The car has a retractable top, 2-inch-thick bulletproof door and windshield glass, armor-plated doors and floorboards. It weighs 10,000 pounds.

A supercharged straight-8 engine, 487 cubic inches of piston displacement, reputedly can move the monster at more than 135 miles per hour.

Like a yacht, this is the kind of car you don't buy if you need to know the price. Its gas consumption is so voracious that it needs a 56-gallon tank.

Nearly 1,300 persons have been convicted during the last five years for violating laws regulating Sunday business operations in South Africa.

Boyleing it down

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — We have a different problem this New Year's.

Usually that is the day when everyone does a lot of soul-searching, and decides what to give up. Usually, if we are honest, we find much to give up.

This year, inflation and the course of events already have taken from us more than we feel we can afford to lose. The problem is to find something we can hold on to with both hands. However, despite the uneasy feeling I have that I am being robbed in some mysterious way — a feeling I suppose you have, too — I find there are still left to me a few things I might be better off without. They are mostly some picaresque faults and bad habits — things we all have in plentiful supply.

So help me Hannah, I hereby resolve in 1973 to:

—Quit having so many late dates with Phyllis Diller. They are only making her yawn and putting dark circles under her bright eyes.

—Offer fewer possible winning plays to the Green Bay Packers pro football team. They are only helping the other teams to victory.

—Go to night clubs only during matinees. Then I can get home at dusk instead of dawn.

—Stop reading the last pages of mystery novels first. This only leaves me more confused when I get around to reading the whole book.

—Compose no more puppy love poems while under the influence of martinis. They only make my cat sick when I read them to her.

—Write my congressman more short letters and fewer long telegrams.

—Make no phone calls of free advice except to people who are glad to take them collect.

—Quit asking the check girl at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, "What's a pretty girl like you doing in a joint like this?"

—Stop snarling at strangers who step on my toes in the subway. "What's the trouble with you anyway, Mac. Do you need four feet to walk on — or the whole floor?"

—Make no more last wills and testaments when I'm angry at youth and in which I leave all my money to my cat and a frozen beef kidney to my daughter.

—Write no more anonymous letters to the boss asking for a merit raise.

—Ask God or the world for nothing in 1973 I can't digest, wear or profit my soul and heart with.

So help me Hannah!
